Lucid Air owners received new ADAS features in an over-the-air update in July, enhancing their vehicles' autonomous driving capabilities

In a press release on July 15, Lucid Group announced a substantial update to its DreamDrive Pro suite of advanced driver assistance systems, introducing Hands-Free Drive Assist and Hands-Free Lane Change Assist to its electric vehicles.

These features, along with other vehicle enhancements, were available as an over-the-air update for Lucid Air owners on July 30, with Lucid Gravity owners receiving it later in 2025. This update represents a significant enhancement to Lucid's technology, as the company continues to invest in advancing its ADAS and autonomous driving offerings. The update will provide customers with the ability to engage in hands-free driving and lane changes on compatible divided highways, with the system activated via the turn signal stalk. The DreamDrive Pro system, which is an optional upgrade, includes lidar, radar, various cameras and ultrasonic sensors.
